Margaret is an associate in the Insurance Recovery Group where she advises clients on a variety of insurance matters. Prior to joining Reed Smith, Margaret was an associate with a West Coast AmLaw 500 firm where she defended large corporations, investor-owned public utilities, and property owners during all stages of litigation. These matters included environmental clean-up and wildfire litigation along with catastrophic transportation accidents and real property disputes.

Before joining Reed Smith, Margaret was an associate with a West Coast AmLaw 500 firm. While there, Margaret defended large corporations, investor-owned public utilities, and property owners during all stages of litigation.

During law school, Margaret was an extern for the Hon. Maureen Tighe in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Central District of California, a Senior Editor of the Notre Dame Journal of Law, Ethics, & Public Policy, and studied at the Notre Dame London Law Centre.
