Kirk Ogrosky is recognized as one of the nation's government enforcement and white-collar criminal defense attorneys. He handles complex criminal, civil, and corporate litigation, including health care fraud and abuse matters involving the False Claims Act, Anti-Kickback Statute, and FCPA.

Mr. Ogrosky has first-chaired federal jury trials in districts across the country and has taken over forty defendants to verdict. He was named Government Investigations Attorney of the Year by LMG for 2019. For the past six years, he has been named one of the Top 100 Lawyers in DC by Super Lawyers. In addition, Chambers placed him in Band 1 for Healthcare practitioners in 2020.

Prior to joining the firm in 2010, Mr. Ogrosky served as Deputy Chief of the Fraud Section in the Department of Justice's Criminal Division (2006-10), an Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida (1999-2005), and Assistant Attorney General in Kentucky (1996-98). He has been widely recognized as the key architect behind modern criminal health care fraud enforcement after creating and running the Medicare Fraud Strike Force from 2006-10.

Mr. Ogrosky's experience includes representing pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers, diagnostic testing companies, senior executives, directors, and physicians in civil FCA and criminal investigations by the U.S. Department of Justice and state Attorney's General.

Mr. Ogrosky received a B.A. from Washington University in St. Louis and his J.D. from The George Washington University Law School. He clerked for the Honorable Patricia A. Seitz, U.S. District Court, Southern District of Florida.
